African-American Community Fund

WHAT IS AACF?

Established in 1992, the African-American Community Fund (AACF) was created in Dayton, OH, by John E. Moore, Sr. and Lloyd E. Lewis, Jr., as a component fund of The Dayton Foundation. It is recognized nationally as a model for philanthropy in the African-American community. AACF offers a unique opportunity for the African-American community to create permanent financial resources for generations to come.

It is a viable means to addressing adverse social and economic conditions affecting our community. AACF ensures that support systems will be available today and in the future, as well as offers a powerful tool to address concerns in our community.

Our mission is to increase African-American involvement in organized philanthropy, thereby strengthening non-profits serving the African-American community.

COMMUNITY PROGRAMS

AACF provides free seminars to the community on Grant Writing and College Scholarships. Both seminars provide a wealth of information on how to apply for grants and how to apply for college scholarships.

AACF DISCRETIONARY GRANTS

The African-American Community Fund (AACF) awards grants for public charitable purposes that benefit African-American citizens of the Dayton/Greater Miami Valley region. Grants are awarded to a variety of 501(c)(3) tax-exempt organizations: from social service to mentoring and education to health & wellness based upon worthy community efforts and the greatest community need. For more information, visit our website at www.aacfdayton.org.
